MEMORIAL OF REUNION - 1911

St. James Church
1111 1st Avenue
Miami, Florida 33139

October 8, 1974

Dear Parliament and Members of St. James

When the "new" St. James Church was dedicated March 4, 1966, Archbishop Joseph P. Ruffini said a glowing reference to Monseigneur John Wilkins, past and of the beloved pastor of St. James: "Every altar has stones to which the spirit will speak with eloquence." The great pastor's words has now become still for some of James, but the spirit lives on, for only in the beautiful Church, which we understand today after centuries' separation, but always will be true as in the hearts of the James parishioners and of the past members of St. James before.

It was Monseigneur Wilkins, Father Wilford Fox and Monseigneur Thomas Fennell, along with many other dedicated pastors and priests, who are largely responsible for the deep faith by which the people of St. James are so truly sustained.

Today St. James Church stands not only as a sign of beauty, a landmark in downtown Miami, but also as a center of a warm faith community, where the signs of God's love and goodness are everywhere visible: - from the James Laboratory and the Good Samaritan Hospital to the neighboring medical center and general hospital.

Today's celebration is far more than a return to the past and the celebration of a Church. Above all it is a celebration of a people, a commitment to Christ's vision, a renewal of the faith and love which re-dimensioned the New Testament.

If we understand and truly a building, but also our lives, if we remain our traditions and sincerely continue with the past and our traditions, then indeed this celebration will also be for us a truly new that will not only be moving.

Sincerely yours in Christ

David P. Roca

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold, crisp air.
 It felt like a fresh blanket. The snow was still on the ground, and the trees were covered in a thick layer of white.
 I had never seen so much snow before.
 The houses were all white, and the streets were covered in a soft, white carpet. It was so beautiful, I almost forgot to breathe.

I had heard that the winter was the best time to visit. The snow was perfect, and the weather was just what I needed. I had heard that the snow was the best, and the weather was just what I needed. I had heard weather was just what I needed.

A black and white illustration of a winter scene. In the foreground, a large, fluffy white dog is sitting on a snow-covered ground. Behind it, a smaller white dog is also sitting. In the background, there is a large, arched structure, possibly a bridge or a large doorway, with several arched windows. The scene is set in a snowy, winter landscape.

Street in the town of ...

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the train was the fresh air. It was a relief after the stuffy atmosphere of the city. The street was wide and clean, with a few people walking leisurely. On the left, there was a large, white, two-story building with a prominent porch. It looked like a government or institutional building. Further down the street, there were more buildings, some with awnings and others with trees in front of them. The overall impression was of a well-maintained and orderly town.

As I walked down the street, I noticed the architecture was a mix of styles. Some buildings had classic, ornate facades, while others were more modern and functional. The streets were lined with utility poles and wires, but they didn't seem to clutter the view. There were a few trees scattered throughout, adding a touch of nature to the urban environment. The people I saw were dressed in simple, practical clothing, suggesting a community that valued functionality and efficiency. The overall atmosphere was one of quiet activity and a sense of community.

 united. The nations are no longer so far apart as they were in the is making the world a smaller to understand each other's

1. The first step is to identify the key actors in the public sphere. This includes individuals, groups, and institutions that are actively engaged in public discourse.

2. Next, it is important to understand the nature of the public sphere. Is it a space for rational debate, or is it dominated by emotional appeals and propaganda?

3. The third step is to analyze the content of the public sphere. What issues are being discussed? What are the dominant themes and arguments?

4. Finally, it is necessary to evaluate the impact of the public sphere. How has it influenced public opinion and policy? What are the challenges and opportunities for the future?

Now is the time... to remember...

STANDARD SERVICE IS PERSONAL
FOR A GROUP OR INDIVIDUAL OR BUREAU
SERVICE TO ONE FELLOWMAN.

The devotion and dedication of St. James, Stags, Stirling, Stuyvesant, St. Francis, St. Regis and other private schools and institutions who have served St. James and the community in providing their former ones, but the direction given by those leaders in the past is the life of the present today.

Since 1916, George Stuart has watched the growth of St. James -- the other schools that have developed, the building of the school, the hospital and other facilities and organizations in the area -- but most of all the growing concern of the institutions for the needs of the community. And that has led, ultimately, to the purchase of the school.

The phenomenal growth of St. James has been due to service to men and the community. All can be proud of this heritage.

Our Commitment to St. James Perseus in this remarkable occasion.
